ELECTION OF SPECIES

- 1) Claims 1-20 are under prosecution.
- 2) The application contains claims directed to methods that use the following patentably distinct composition species of the claimed invention: (a) composition comprising an antibody to tumor necrosis factor alpha; and (b) composition comprising an antibody to interferon gamma and an antibody to tumor necrosis factor alpha. Each of these composition species have different structural and biologic properties and different immunospecificities.

As per In re Harnisch, 631 F.2d 716, 206 USPQ 300 (CCPA 1980), the initial examination will be limited to a method that uses a single composition species. While the methods have common utility, each method uses an antibody composition species that lacks substantial similarity in terms of structure and/or immunospecificity. As set forth above, there is a combination antibody composition species and an individual subcombination antibody composition species used in the claimed methods. Applicants should note that upon examination of the subcombination species, if elected, and if that elected subcombination species is found to be allowable, the Office would consider rejoining the combination of that subcombination species.

- 3) Applicants are required under 35 U.S.C 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.
- 4) Applicants are advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Should Applicants traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, Applicants should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the Examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C 103(a) of the other invention.
